Ventura v. East Haven, 330 C 613.	3
Negligence; statutory (§ 52-557n) governmental immunity; motion for directed verdict; certification from Appellate Court; whether plaintiff's action against defendant town was foreclosed by governmental immunity; whether Appellate Court correctly determined that question of whether municipal police department's tow rules and regulations imposed on police officer ministerial duty to have vehicles of drivers who have violated motor vehicle laws towed was question of law for court rather than one of fact for jury; language in Lombard v. Edward J. Peters, Jr., P.C. (252 Conn. 623) and its progeny indicating that such issue is question of fact for jury, expressly disavowed; whether Appellate Court correctly concluded that police department's tow rules did not apply to police officers and were written solely to regulate tow truck companies and operators doing business with police department; whether police officer had ministerial duty to have unregistered vehicle towed; claim that jury reasonably could have rejected witness' unequivocal testimony that officer's decision to have vehicles towed was discretionary and concluded that ministerial duty existed on basis of that same witness' testimony of manner in which he conducted official duties with regard to unregistered vehicles.

CONNECTICUT APPELLATE REPORTS

Anderson v. Dike, 187 CA 405	125A
Personal injury; whether trial court improperly granted motion for summary judgment; whether plaintiff failed to meet burden of demonstrating existence of genuine issue of material fact; failure of plaintiff to offer any evidence in opposition to motion for summary judgment that could properly be considered at summary judgment; claim that trial court improperly denied motions for jury trial and appointment of counsel; whether court-appointed counsel is available in civil proceedings.
Boucher v. Saint Francis GI Endoscopy, LLC, 187 CA 422.	142A
Employment discrimination; whether trial court improperly granted motion for summary judgment; whether trial court properly determined that there were no genuine issues of material fact as to whether plaintiff presented prima facie case of employment discrimination or retaliation; claim that trial court improperly concluded that plaintiff failed to demonstrate adverse employment action by defendant; whether plaintiff established genuine issue of material fact as to whether defendant intentionally created intolerable work atmosphere that forced her to quit involuntarily to support claim of constructive discharge.

Buie v. Commissioner of Correction, 187 CA 414 134A
Habeas corpus; claim that habeas court improperly determined that petitioner received effective assistance from prior habeas counsel and criminal trial counsel; whether petitioner established that he was prejudiced as result of allegedly deficient performance by criminal trial counsel or prior habeas counsel.

Fitzgerald v. Bridgeport, 187 CA 301 21A
Injunction; action seeking injunctive relief to prevent defendants from making appointments to position of police captain based on results of police captain examination; whether trial court properly granted motion to dismiss counterclaim for lack of subject matter jurisdiction on basis that defendant failed to exhaust administrative remedies; claim that there was no reason to appeal to defendant Civil Service Commission because defendant was not aggrieved by determination that he was eligible to take captain's examination; claim that defendant lacked necessary qualifications to sit for captain examination; claim that because city council had not approved increase in number of lieutenant positions from twenty-one to twenty-two, defendant's seniority was calculated on improper basis; whether trial court properly concluded that defendant did not meet eligibility requirements for captain examination and should not have been permitted to take examination; whether claim of error in selection by commission of date on which vacancy in rank of captain occurred was subject to exhaustion requirement; whether policies underlying exhaustion doctrine would be best served by requiring defendant to bring challenge to date of vacancy before commission; whether defendant as municipal employee candidate for promotion to captain possessed specific, personal and legal interest in date establishing candidates' eligibility for captain examination; grievement; claim that trial court improperly concluded that twenty-second lieutenant position was not legally established under city charter; whether commission lacked authority to increase number of lieutenants; whether plain language of charter required that city council establish new lieutenant position; claim that even if trial court properly determined that twenty-second lieutenant position was not legally established under charter, trial court's conclusion that defendant was ineligible to sit for captain examination constituted improper sanction of illegal appointment.

Hodges v. Commissioner of Correction, 187 CA 394 114A
Habeas corpus; claim that habeas court improperly determined that petitioner's trial counsel did not render ineffective assistance; whether trial counsel was ineffective by pursuing defense theory of mere presence; whether trial counsel rendered ineffective assistance by failing to consult with and retain expert witness in video forensics; claim that habeas court abused its discretion by precluding testimony of petitioner's firearm identification expert as to whether surveillance video depicted presence of firearm.

Jacobson v. Commissioner of Correction (Memorandum Decision), 187 CA 901 161A
 Kirwan v. Kirwan, 187 CA 375 95A
Dissolution of marriage; motion for contempt; whether trial court abused its discretion in granting motion for order regarding children's private middle school tuition; claim that trial court erred by ordering defendant to pay 75 percent of children's tuition for certain academic years; claim that trial court erred by ordering defendant to pay portion of children's tuition that was incurred prior to date of dissolution judgment; whether trial court properly exercised its authority pursuant to applicable statute (§ 46b-81) to allocate between parties marital debt related to children's tuition; whether trial court abused its discretion in finding defendant in contempt for his failure to comply with its order regarding children's private middle school tuition; whether underlying order was sufficiently clear and unambiguous to support contempt finding; whether defendant's noncompliance with order was wilful; whether finding that defendant did not meet his burden of proving that he was unable to pay his court-ordered obligation was clearly erroneous.

State v. Santiago, 187 CA 350 70A

Murder; whether trial court abused its discretion in admitting certain written statement to police by witness as prior consistent statement; whether introduction of witness' prior consistent written statement was solely to rehabilitate credibility of witness; whether trial court abused its discretion in admitting, as relevant evidence, testimony of witness concerning uncharged misconduct by defendant; whether probative value of uncharged misconduct testimony was outweighed by unfair prejudice; claim that defendant was deprived of due process right to fair trial as result of prosecutorial improprieties; whether prosecutor's questions were intended to elicit inadmissible responses from witness; whether prosecutor relied exclusively on evidence admitted during trial during rebuttal closing argument; reviewability of unpreserved evidentiary claim that prosecutor improperly failed to redact certain portions of witness' statement to police; claim that Appellate Court should exercise its supervisory authority to order new trial.

State v. Williams, 187 CA 333 53A

Attempt to commit home invasion; manslaughter in first degree; whether evidence was sufficient to support conviction of attempt to commit home invasion; whether evidence was sufficient to show defendant had specific intent to commit felony assault against individual inside dwelling if defendant and his cohorts were successful in entering dwelling; whether evidence was sufficient to show that defendant took substantial step toward unlawfully entering dwelling; whether proof that defendant or one of his cohorts intended to commit felony against individual in dwelling was legally sufficient where state charged defendant as principal and not as accessory.

Watson Real Estate, LLC v. Woodland Ridge, LLC, 187 CA 282. 2A

Contracts; claim that trial court improperly failed to find that there was meeting of minds between parties as to number of layers of pavement to be applied to common driveway; claim that trial court should have drawn adverse inference against defendant for failing to call certain witness to rebut certain parol evidence presented by plaintiff; whether drawing of adverse inference is permissive rather than mandatory; whether trial court's failure to draw adverse inference was improper; reviewability of claim that trial court improperly failed to find that defendant breached escrow agreement by not reimbursing plaintiff for costs it had incurred; failure to allege claim in revised complaint or at trial; claim that trial court improperly denied request for leave to amend revised complaint to add claim of unjust enrichment.
