CONNECTICUT APPELLATE REPORTS

Ammar I. v. Evelyn W., 227 CA 827 . . . . .	43
Petition for third-party visitation; child custody proceedings; subject matter jurisdiction; whether trial court properly determined that it lacked subject matter jurisdiction over nonparent's petition for third-party visitation with minor children; applicability of accidental failure of suit statute (§ 52-592) to petition for third-party visitation.
In re Christian G., 227 CA 897 . . . . .	113
Probate appeal; appeal to Superior Court from orders of Probate Court denying petitions for voluntary appointment of guardian and for designation of minor child as having special immigrant juvenile status; claim that trial court made clearly erroneous findings of fact and misapplied law.
LendingHome Funding Corp. v. REI Holdings, LLC, 227 CA 786 . . . . .	2
Foreclosure; whether trial court erred in denying defendant's motion to open judgment of strict foreclosure; whether appellate stay was in effect when law days passed, such that law days were rendered ineffective; whether defendant precluded from obtaining relief pursuant to statute (§ 49-15); whether defendant demonstrated existence of rare and exceptional circumstances that warranted this court's exercise of its inherent, continuing jurisdiction to afford defendant equitable relief.
Moon v. Commissioner of Correction, 227 CA 838 . . . . .	54
Habeas corpus; claim that habeas court improperly denied petition for certification to appeal from denial of habeas petition; claim that habeas court improperly rejected petitioner's actual innocence claim.
Orlando v. Liburd, 227 CA 883 . . . . .	99
Negligence; third-party complaint; request for leave to amend complaint; motion to strike; claim that trial court improperly denied plaintiff's request for leave to amend complaint; claim that trial court improperly dismissed plaintiff's unjust enrichment count against third-party defendant for lack of subject matter jurisdiction on ripeness grounds; whether trial court improperly failed to consider evidence plaintiff presented regarding ripeness.
Quicken Loans, Inc. v. Rodriguez, 227 CA 806. . . . .	22
Foreclosure; motion to open judgment; claim that trial court misinterpreted and misapplied applicable rule of practice (§ 63-1) when it concluded that no appellate stay was in effect that barred transfer of title of defendants' real property to plaintiff; claim that trial court improperly failed to conduct evidentiary hearing on defendants' motion to open; claim that trial court improperly determined that defendants' motion to open was untimely as to judgment of foreclosure by sale and that it lacked authority to open judgment.
