Civil union statutes 46b-38aa through 46b-38oo were repealed, effective October 1, 2010.

To implement the decision of the Connecticut Supreme Court in Kerrigan v. Commissioner of Public Health [289 Conn. 135 (2008)], provide for the recognition of marriages and relationships providing substantially the same rights, benefits and responsibilities entered into in another state or jurisdiction and provide for the merger of existing civil unions into marriages.

Bill (SB 899) Analysis from the Office of Legislative Research: SUMMARY: This bill redefines “marriage” as the legal union of two persons. On October 1, 2010, it transforms civil unions into marriages unless they have been annulled or the couple has divorced or is in the process of dissolving their relationship.

Conn. Gen. Stats. (2023) - Chapter 815f – Civil Union

Sec. 46b-38pp. Applicability of estate tax, gift tax and income tax to parties to a civil union. The provisions of chapters 217, 228c and 229 shall apply to parties to a civil union recognized under the laws of this state as if federal income tax law and federal estate and gift tax law recognized such a civil union in the same manner as Connecticut law.

Sec. 46b-38qq. Merger of civil union into marriage by action of the parties. (a) On and after April 23, 2009, and prior to October 1, 2010, two persons who are parties to a civil union entered into pursuant to sections 46b-38aa to 46b-38oo, inclusive, may apply for and be issued a marriage license, provided such persons are otherwise eligible to marry under chapter 815e and the parties to the marriage will be the same as the parties to the civil union.
(b) After the celebration of such marriage and upon the recording of the license certificate or notarized affidavit with the registrar of vital statistics of the town where the marriage took place pursuant to section 46b-34, the civil union of such persons shall be merged into the marriage by operation of law as of the date of the marriage stated in the certificate or affidavit.

Sec. 46b-38rr. Merger of civil union into marriage by default. Exception. (a) Two persons who are parties to a civil union established pursuant to sections 46b-38aa to 46b-38oo, inclusive, that has not been dissolved or annulled by the parties or merged into a marriage by operation of law under section 46b-38qq as of October 1, 2010, shall be deemed to be married under chapter 815e on said date and such civil union shall be merged into such marriage by operation of law on said date.
(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (a) of this section, the parties to a civil union with respect to which a proceeding for dissolution, annulment or legal separation is pending on October 1, 2010, shall not be deemed to be married on said date and such civil union shall not be merged into such marriage by operation of law but shall continue to be governed by the provisions of the general statutes applicable to civil unions in effect prior to October 1, 2010.
Sec. 46b-38ss. Savings clause. Nothing in section 46b-38qq or 46b-38rr or section 21 of public act 09-13* shall impair or affect any action or proceeding commenced, or any right or benefit accrued, or responsibility incurred, by a party to a civil union prior to October 1, 2010.

*Note: Section 21 of public act 09-13 repealed sections 46b-38aa to 46b-38oo, inclusive, effective October 1, 2010.

Sec. 46b-38tt. Dissolution, annulment or legal separation of civil union performed in foreign jurisdiction. Enforcement or modification of foreign matrimonial judgment. (a) Either party to a valid civil union performed in a foreign jurisdiction may bring an action for dissolution, annulment or legal separation of the civil union in this state, and the Superior Court may enter an order of dissolution, annulment or legal separation of the civil union.
(b) The procedures and requirements in the general statutes for the dissolution, annulment or legal separation of a marriage, whether applicable prejudgment or postjudgment, or requirements for enforcement or modification of a foreign matrimonial judgment, shall apply to the dissolution, annulment or legal separation of a civil union or enforcement or modification of a foreign civil union judgment. The substantive law in the general statutes that applies to the dissolution of a marriage, annulment or legal separation, whether applicable prejudgment or postjudgment, shall apply to the dissolution, annulment or legal separation of a valid civil union performed in a foreign jurisdiction.

LEGISLATIVE:

ATTORNEY GENERAL OPINIONS:
- Opinions of the Attorney General, No. 2008-018 (Oct. 28, 2008) (2008 WL 4760987). “Although the legislature’s intent in enacting the civil union law clearly was to afford civil union couples the same rights as married couples, state tax statutes are expressly tied to federal filing status. The issue was resolved by legislation See Conn. Gen. Stat. § 46b-38pp (providing that the state income tax laws ‘shall apply to parties to a civil union under the laws of this state as if federal income tax law and federal estate and gift tax law recognized such civil union in the same manner as Connecticut law’).”

CASES:
- Antech Diagnostics, Inc. v. Veterinary Oncology & Hematology Ctr., LLC, No. 3:16CV00481(AWT) (May 17,
Civil Unions

“At the time the claim arose in Mueller, legal marriage between a same-sex couple was not an option. Here, by contrast, the VCC parties claim privilege for communications between Dr. Post and Mr. Duchemin from 2009 to 2013. See Doc. #195-1 (Revised Privilege Log); see also Doc. #195 at 10-13 (list of challenged communications). During that time period, Dr. Post and Mr. Duchemin were able to marry in the State of Connecticut. There was no obstacle to legal marriage in this state at that time, as there was at the time the claim in Mueller arose. Accordingly, the holding and rationale of Mueller are not persuasive, nor entirely applicable, to the facts presently before the Court.”

• Barse v Pasternak, Superior Court, Judicial District of New Britain, No. FA12-4030541-S (Jan. 16, 2015) (59 Conn. L. Rptr. 801) (2015) (WL 600973). “The present motion and objection involve the legal issue of whether the plaintiff, who was in a civil union that was subsequently converted to a same-sex marriage, is the legal parent of a child born to her now spouse during the civil union, where the plaintiff has no genetic relationship to the minor child, the plaintiff did not adopt the child, and the parties did not comply with Connecticut’s artificial insemination statutes”.

• Mueller v. Tepler, 312 Conn 631, 650-652 & 653, 95 A3d 1011, 1023-1025 (2014). “We also conclude that we should expand the action for loss of consortium to plaintiffs in Stacey’s position. As this court recognized in Kerrigan v. Commissioner of Public Health . . . the attitudes and needs of society with respect to same sex relationships and marriage have changed significantly in recent decades . . . Specifically, society has come to accept the view that committed same sex couples who wish to marry are entitled to the same social and legal recognition as committed opposite sex couples who wish to marry. Accordingly, we agree with Stacey that, in light of this new societal attitude, we must reevaluate this court's decisions in Hopson and Gurliacci.”

“We further conclude that none of the public policies that this court considered in Hopson and Gurliacci would be undermined by allowing a member of a same sex couple to maintain a loss of consortium claim if he or she can prove that the couple would have been married when the underlying tort occurred if not for the fact that they were barred from doing so under the laws of this state. The public policy in favor of recognizing such claims is the policy favoring the compensation of individuals for the loss of a ‘variety of intangible relations which exist between spouses living together in marriage . . . [including] affection, society, companionship and sexual relations.’ . . . Hopson v. St. Mary’s Hospital, supra, 176 Conn. 487.” (p. 653)
Kerrigan v. Commissioner of Public Health, 289 Conn. 135, 140-141, 957 A.2d 407, 411-412 (2008). "We conclude that, in light of the history of pernicious discrimination faced by gay men and lesbians, and because the institution of marriage carries with it a status and significance that the newly created classification of civil unions does not embody, the segregation of heterosexual and homosexual couples into separate institutions constitutes a cognizable harm."

United States v. Windsor, 570 US 744, 775, 186 L.Ed.2d 808, 133 SCT 2675, 2695-2696 (2013). "The federal statute is invalid, for no legitimate purpose overcomes the purpose and effect to disparage and to injure those whom the State, by its marriage laws, sought to protect in personhood and dignity. By seeking to displace this protection and treating those persons as living in marriages less respected than others, the federal statute is in violation of the Fifth Amendment. This opinion and its holding are confined to those lawful marriages."

- Rosenbrahn v. Daugaard, 61 F.Supp.3d 845, 851 (2014). “Recently, many federal courts have seen challenges centering on the constitutional validity of state same-sex marriage bans. With few exceptions, those courts have found that denying same-sex couples the right to marry violates the Constitution. Some courts have recognized that same-sex marriage bans impermissibly deprive same-sex couples of the fundamental right to marry. See, e.g., Bostic v. Schaefer, 760 F.3d 352, 384 (4th Cir.2014) (“The choice of whether and whom to marry is an intensely personal decision that alters the course of an individual’s life. Denying same-sex couples this choice prohibits them from participating fully in our society, which is precisely the type of segregation that the Fourteenth Amendment cannot countenance.”). Other courts have found that same-sex marriage bans classify citizens in a way that has no rational relationship to a legitimate government objective. See, e.g., Baskin v. Bogan, 766 F.3d 648 (7th Cir. 2014) (holding that same-sex marriage bans in Indiana and Wisconsin denied same-sex couples equal protection of the law because they classified citizens in a way that bore no rational relationship to any legitimate government purpose).”

- Marie v. Moser, 65 F.Supp.3d 1175, 1185 (2014). “Defendants have argued that a 1972 Supreme Court decision controls the outcome here. The Tenth Circuit has considered this proposition and squarely rejected it. Consequently, this Order applies the following rule, adopted by the Tenth Circuit in Kitchen v. Herbert, to the Kansas facts: "We hold that the Fourteenth Amendment [to the United States Constitution] protects the fundamental right to marry, establish a family, raise children, and enjoy the full protection of a state's marital laws. A state may not deny the issuance of a marriage license to two persons, or refuse to recognize their marriage, based solely upon the sex of the persons in the marriage union.‘ Because Kansas' constitution and statutes indeed do what Kitchen forbids, the Court concludes that Kansas' same-sex marriage ban violates the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution.”

- Baskin v. Bogan, 766 F.3d 648, 654 (2014). “We'll see that the governments of Indiana and Wisconsin have given us no reason to think they have a ‘reasonable basis’ for forbidding same-sex marriage. And more than a reasonable basis is required because this is a case in which the challenged discrimination is, in the formula from the Beach case, ‘along suspect lines.’ Discrimination by a state or the federal government against a minority, when based on an immutable characteristic of the members of that minority (most familiarly skin color and gender), and occurring against an historical background of discrimination against the persons who have that characteristic, makes the discriminatory law or policy constitutionally suspect.”

  - § 46b-28b. Recognition by another state or jurisdiction of marriages entered into in this state.
  "A marriage between two persons entered into in this state and recognized as valid in this state may be recognized as a marriage, or a relationship that provides substantially the same rights, benefits and responsibilities as a marriage, in another state or jurisdiction if one or both persons travel to or reside in such other state or jurisdiction.”

- 1 U.S.C. § 7 (2022). Definition of “marriage” and “spouse.”

  "(a) For the purposes of any Federal law, rule, or regulation in which marital status is a factor, an individual shall be considered married if that individual's marriage is between 2 individuals and is valid in the State where the marriage was entered into or, in the case of a marriage entered into outside any State, if the marriage is between 2 individuals and is valid in the place where entered into and the marriage could have been entered into in a State.

  (b) In this section, the term ‘State’ means a State, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, or any other territory or possession of the United States."
(c) For purposes of subsection (a), in determining whether a marriage is valid in a State or the place where entered into, if outside of any State, only the law of the jurisdiction applicable at the time the marriage was entered into may be considered. (Added Pub. L. 104–199, § 3(a), Sept. 21, 1996, 110 Stat. 2419; amended Pub. L. 117–228, § 5, Dec. 13, 2022, 136 Stat. 2306.)"

Text of the law prior to December 2022:

“In determining the meaning of any Act of Congress, or of any ruling, regulation, or interpretation of the various administrative bureaus and agencies of the United States, the word ‘marriage’ means only a legal union between one man and one woman as husband and wife, and the word ‘spouse’ refers only to a person of the opposite sex who is a husband or a wife.”

(a) In General.—No person acting under color of State law may deny—

1. full faith and credit to any public act, record, or judicial proceeding of any other State pertaining to a marriage between 2 individuals, on the basis of the sex, race, ethnicity, or national origin of those individuals; or

2. a right or claim arising from such a marriage on the basis that such marriage would not be recognized under the law of that State on the basis of the sex, race, ethnicity, or national origin of those individuals.

(b) Enforcement by Attorney General.—The Attorney General may bring a civil action in the appropriate United States district court against any person who violates subsection (a) for declaratory and injunctive relief.

(c) Private Right of Action.—Any person who is harmed by a violation of subsection (a) may bring a civil action in the appropriate United States district court against the person who violated such subsection for declaratory and injunctive relief.

(d) State Defined.—In this section, the term “State” has the meaning given such term under section 7 of title 1.

Text of the law prior to December 2022:

"No State, territory, or possession of the United States, or Indian tribe, shall be required to give effect to any public act, record, or judicial proceeding of any other State, territory, possession, or tribe respecting a relationship between persons of the same sex that is treated as a marriage under the laws of such other State, territory, possession, or tribe, or a right or claim arising from such relationship."

LEGISLATIVE HISTORY:

  “H.R. 3396, the Defense of Marriage Act, has two primary purposes. The first is to defend the institution of traditional heterosexual marriage. The second is to protect the right of the States to formulate their own public policy regarding the legal recognition of same-sex unions, free from any federal constitutional implications that might attend the recognition by one State of the right for homosexual couples to acquire marriage licenses.

  To achieve these purposes, H.R. 3396 has two operative provisions. Section 2, entitled ‘Powers Reserved to the States,’ provides that no State shall be required to accord full faith and credit to a marriage license issued by another State if it relates to a relationship between persons of the same sex. And Section 3 defines the terms ‘marriage’ and ‘spouse’ for purposes of federal law only, to reaffirm that they refer exclusively to relationships between persons of the opposite sex.”
